To the Editor:

In Greg Byerly's article "The Faculty Status of Academic Libraries in Ohio" (CRL September, 1980), we've got the makings of a significant study of faculty status. All that's missing is the viewpoint of the librarians who make up the group. Byerly hits the nail on the head when he admits that asking the directors to determine staff satisfaction with faculty status might not produce the desired information.

Why then not query the troops? How about a follow-up questionnaire to obtain a random sampling of Ohio academic librarians before the postal rates go up? Byerly got my attention, now how about finishing the job?—Brian Alley, Assistant Director, University Libraries, Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

What do Hubcaps, Weather Vanes, Buttons, and Baseball Cards have in common?

They are all popular collectible items. The Collector's Index, by Pearl Turner, provides information on how to collect, identify, maintain, and display these and several hundred other collectible items.

Items of long-standing interest as well as more recently popular collectible items, such as beer cans, corkscrews, and insulators, are included.

More than 300 in-print books published between 1972-1978 have been indexed. Also, included are some older, classic sources that are of continuing importance to collectors.

Reference librarians will find that the Collector's Index provides quick access to many of the sources in this popular subject area.

The Index is alphabetically arranged by type of collectible. Grade level for juvenile books and full cross-references are provided.

FACTS ON FILE®

"In all my years with the Weekly, my most steadfast and dependable assistant was Facts On File, which I own back to the first issues in the fall of 1940... Facts On File is unique and indispensable."—I.F. Stone

"Not since the 'invention' of the encyclopedia and the world almanac has such a useful reference tool been offered to the public as Facts On File."—William L. Shirer

"It is quite simply indispensable—to the journalist, to the novelist, and to anyone who is threatened by loss of historical balance."—Wm. F. Buckley, Jr.

"All librarians should rediscover it—it's a goldmine!"

—Jay Martin Poole

INDISPENSABLE is the word most often used to describe FACTS ON FILE®, the weekly news digest and index which since 1941 has covered the gamut of current events in the U.S. and abroad. Carefully and comprehensively assembled by a staff of skilled research editors from leading national and international news sources, Facts On File's current weekly service provides the single most powerful source available for rapid news research.

This sophisticated, easy-to-use reference system includes: • A weekly digest of national and foreign news, averaging twenty pages totaling 25,000 words • A twice-monthly cumulative index • A desk-top binder for the insertion of each week's digests and indexes • A 32-page four-color world atlas.

Used by government agencies, news services and broadcasting networks, magazines, publishers, leading corporations, and government and university research libraries, FACTS ON FILE is a necessary item on any well-stocked library shelf. In addition to reporting on all the major news stories of the day and any important developments in foreign and U.S. affairs, special subject coverage provides up-to-date reports on space, sports, obituaries, science, medicine, religion, education, crime, books, plays, films and persons in the news. No library should be without it!

Special price for college and university libraries: $279.00 for annual subscription. (Regular subscription: $329.00)

EDITORIALS ON FILE®

If you'd like to help your patrons and students to...

- Know what the best minds in the country are thinking about the topics on which they are writing papers
- Have a flood of supporting quotes ready to use in their next debate
- Have at their fingertips the swings of public opinion on any given issue

... then you are in need of a subscription to EDITORIALS ON FILE®, the ONLY source for a complete sampling of newspaper editorial opinion on a regular basis.

Since January of 1970 Editorials On File has recorded the FULL RANGE OF AMERICAN NEWSPAPER OPINION on all the MOST IMPORTANT ISSUES, covering every facet of every controversy. A TWICE-MONTHLY publication, each issue of Editorials On File combines approximately 200 of the period's most significant editorials — adding up to more than 5,000 EDITORIALS PER YEAR — from 140 LEADING NEWSPAPERS, plus a selection of editorial CARTOONS.

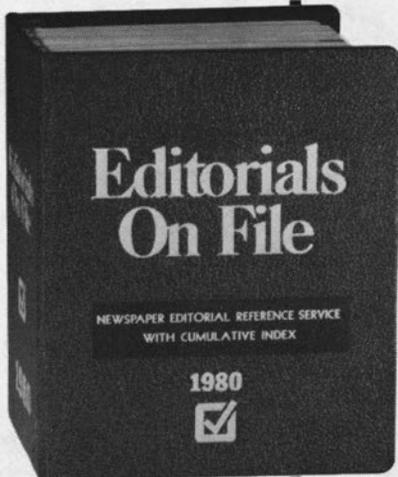

From sensitive social issues to taxes to foreign policy, Editorials On File is not only a unique general reference tool but a mine of information on specific research topics, providing the subscriber with a tremendous variety of viewpoints on a broad selection of crucial issues. For students at every level, college professors, political and social scientists, and historians, it is an invaluable aid.

Neatly stored in a buckram-bound BINDER, which is supplied with your subscription at no additional cost, Editorials On File is the handiest of references to use. In addition to a monthly INDEX, there are CUMULATIVE Indexes every 3 months: all have listings by both subject and person, and are generously CROSS-REFERENCED for rapid location of information.

Annual subscription: $199.
