sity Library. The collection of over 20,000 items includes illustrated books, prints, drawings, manuscripts, games, puzzles, hornbooks, and toys. Highlights include a unique, privately printed first edition of Beatrix Potter's The Tale of Peter Rabbit inscribed as a Christmas present to Potter's cousin. The oldest items date from the 15th century: a Latin primer from 1486 and a Latin translation of the ancient Hindu fables of "Bidpai" printed in 1489.

The National Pasta Association (NPA)

collection, composed of important materials relating to the development of the pasta industry in the United States, has been acquired by the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. The collection includes about 75 volumes of unique materials, including issues of the NPA's first official publication, The New Macaroni Journal. Historical data is presented about the manufacturing and marketing of pastas, as well as the transition of the industry from immigrant family-based manufacturers to multinational firms.

Custody of the archives and records of both the American Law Institute (ALI) and the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws (NCCUSL) has been given to the University of Pennsylvania Law School's Biddle Law Library, which will index and inventory the archival materials. Included is comprehensive documentation of both organizations' continuing joint efforts over the past half century to develop, monitor, and update the Uniform Commercial Code (UCC). The UCC is a joint venture of the NCCUSL and the ALI first proposed officially in 1940 and initially promulgated in 1951. It has been enacted in some form in all 50 states, as well as in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

The personal and business papers of

Keith Hayes Kahle, engineer and founder of Central Airlines, have been acquired by the University of Texas at Arlington Libraries' Special Collections Division. The papers document the creation of Central Airlines in Oklahoma and its subsequent operations from Fort Worth's Meacham Field and Amon Carter Field from 1949 to 1967. Included among the 115 cubic feet of papers are correspondence, diaries, photographs, corporate minutes, charts, and scrapbooks documenting the political and business effort necessary to create and operate a successful airline, one that maintained a perfect safety record during its 18 years of operation.

The Robert C. Gibson Rare Book Collection,

comprising over 4,000 volumes of rare Canadiana, has been acquired by York University Archives and Special Collections. Included in the collection are works related to the Arctic and early exploration of North America, pre- and post-confederation works, early monographs pertaining to provincial and local history across Canada, and rare works on English and European history.

York University has also acquired the papers of Herbert Whitakker, a drama critic for the Montreal Gazette and Toronto's Globe and Mail. The acquisition includes correspondence, lectures, and theater reviews from Whitakker's distinguished career in the theater arts spanning the years 1933 to the present, which included directing and designing as well as criticism. ■
