

Mary Fahnestalk, WSU's consultant to the Yemen Arab Republic, Rita Fisher, WSU's consultant to Jordan, Donna Hanson, University of Idaho's consultant to Pakistan, and Alice Spitzer, WSU's consultant to Indonesia commented on the practical aspects and technical problems of working as a librarian in these developing countries. WSU's Elaine Brekke chaired a panel discussion on library support services provided to project personnel by the home campus library.

Maureen Pastine, director of Washington State University Libraries, emphasized the important role that librarians can play by working on these development projects. Most land-grant universities are actively involved in overseas development projects and the universities' libraries have a commitment to support these endeavors.

Two bibliographies were prepared especially for workshop participants, Living and Working Overseas: A Selected Bibliography and The Global Challenge: International Development (a bibliography of films and video). Displays included books and articles related to the theme of the workshop. For those unable to attend, a videotape of the workshop was made and will be available to interested persons both on- and off-campus.

Participation in the workshop was regional and included librarians from universities that are members of the Consortium for International Development. Among those attending were librarians from the University of Idaho, Oregon State University, Kansas State University, University of Arizona, Gonzaga University, and California State Polytechnic University, Pomona.

The workshop was supported by WSU Libraries, the WSU International Program Development Office and through a Memorandum of Understanding/Program Support Grant from WSU. There was interest in expanding the topics covered and developing a future conference on librarians and international development.

If you would be interested in contributing to such a conference in the near future, or would like more information about the one just concluded, please contact Mary Fahnestalk or Alice Spitzer, Holland Library, Washington State University, Pullman, WA 99164-5610; (509) 335-2691. ■■

ACRL officers for 1986-87

The official ACRL election results.

HANNELORE B. RADER, director of the Library Learning Center at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside (Kenosha, WI 53141), is the forty-ninth president of the Association of College and Research Libraries. During her one-year term of office, she will preside over the ACRL Board of Directors and the ACRL Executive Committee. She will chair the ACRL Conference Program Planning Committee for the 1987 ALA Annual Conference in San Francisco and will plan ACRL's major program at the conference.

As president of the division, Rader will represent ACRL on the ALA San Francisco Conference Program Planning Committee and the ALA Planning and Budget Assembly. She will also represent

Hannelore B. Rader

Joanne R. Euster

ACRL and ALA in their relations with other organizations. Rader has contributed to ACRL as chair of the Education and Behavioral Sciences Section (1978–1979) and as a member of ALA Council (1980–1984). She is also chair of the LAMA Library Organization and Management Section and an editor of Reference Services Review.

JOANNE R. EUSTER, director of libraries at Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey (New Brunswick, NJ 08903), has been elected vice-president/president-elect of the Association of College and Research Libraries. The 1986 election results showed 1,502 votes for Euster and 1,051 for Bob Carmack, director of the Hill Library at the University of Wisconsin, Superior, WI 54880.

As vice-president/president-elect of ACRL, Euster will serve on the ACRL Board of Directors and the ACRL Executive Committee. She will chair the ACRL Conference Program Planning Committee for the 1988 Annual Conference in New Orleans. She will represent ACRL on the ALA Appointments Committee and the ALA Conference Program Planning Committee for the 1988 Conference. At the end of the 1987 Annual Conference she will become ACRL's fiftieth president.

Euster has been very active in ALA and has served as chair of ACRL's Publications Committee since 1982 and on the ALA Committee on Standards.

The results of the ACRL elections follow. For each position, the elected candidate is listed first. The number of votes earned by each candidate is given in parentheses.

Executive Director's report, 1985-86

By JoAn Segal

ACRL Executive Director

ACRL is in a strong position programmatically, financially, and in its staffing.

Editor's note: This report was given by the ACRL Executive Director at the ACRL Board and Membership Meetings at ALA Annual Conference in New York.

JoAn Segal

I. Current goals

The goals of ACRL as established by the Committee on an Activity Model (1982) were:

1. To contribute to the total professional development of academic and research librarians.
2. To improve service capabilities of academic and research librarians.
3. To promote and speak for the interests of academic and research librarianship.
4. To promote study and research relevant to academic and research librarianship.

II. Achievements, 1985-86

During the 1985-86 year, the Association has accomplished a great deal in the areas of these goals. Goal by goal, the achievements have been:

1. Professional development

a. Courses were offered at Midwinter, National Conference, and Annual Conference. A total of 307 people took 18 courses. In addition, local courses were offered, involving 255 participants.

Two Humanities Programming Workshops were offered in the NEH-funded series. 42 participants attended the meeting in Colorado Springs; 27 came to Portland, Oregon.

Sandy Donnelly is the Program Officer in charge of both the continuing education and NEH programs.

The Fourth National ACRL Conference was held in Baltimore, April 9-12. There were 1,502 paid registrants; a total of 2,309 persons attended. A very active Conference Executive Committee designed a program with five major theme sessions stressing Energies for Transition. Most popular was Maya Angelou, whose address proved inspirational. Also highly praised by attendees were sessions by David McCullough and Alan Kay. There were 60 contributed papers given. Social events in-
