

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Call for Papers on Paraconsistency

The First World Congress on Paraconsistency will be held in Gent, Belgium in 1997. The Congress will start on Tuesday the 29th or Wednesday the 30th of 1997, and will last for three or four days. Papers on any aspect of paraconsistency may be submitted for consideration. They may cover topics from the following (not exclusive) list: history of paraconsistent logic, systems of paraconsistent logic, applications of paraconsistent logic, philosophical issues in paraconsistency, paraconsistency and computation. Authors must submit four printed copies of their papers and an electronic version of their abstracts (\cong 1000 words) by December 1996. For further information, please write to: WCP97, p/a Professor Diderik Batens, Blandijnberg 2, B-9000 Gent, Belgium (fax: ++ 32 9 264 4187; e-mail: <WCP97@rug.ac.be>; on the World Wide Web, the address is: <<http://allserv.rug.ac.be/~jvmeirve/>>).

Errata

In Vol. 16, No. 3 (Fall 1994) of this journal, there are two typographical errors in Mark Vorobej's article, "The TRUE Test of Linkage". On p. 151, left column: the 5th and 6th lines from the bottom should read: $n \geq 2$. On p. 151, right column: the 2nd line of clause (3) should begin: set $q \in Q$. We apologize for these errors.

New Informal Logic Bibliography

A new bibliography of informal logic and argumentation theory to be published in this journal in 1996 is in preparation. It will be a supplement and update of the informal logic bibliography we published in 1990 (Vol. 12). Authors of articles, monographs and textbooks, and editors of anthologies and conference proceedings, are invited to send complete references of works they want to suggest for inclusion to: Dr. Hans V. Hansen, Liberal Studies, Brock University, St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada L2S 3A1 (e-mail: hhansen@spartan.ac.brocku.ca). The deadline is March 31, 1996. (Note: We regularly monitor the journals Informal Logic, Argumentation, Philosophy & Rhetoric, Argumentation & Advocacy, and Teaching Philosophy.)
