

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Call for Papers on Argumentation and Rhetoric

The Faculty of Humanities of Brock University and the Ontario Society for the Study of Argumentation announce a conference on Argumentation and Rhetoric to be held at Brock University, St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada on May 15–17, 1997. Keynote speakers:

Michael Billig (Social Science, Loughborough)

Sally Jackson (Speech Communication, Arizona)

Nicholas Rescher (Philosophy, Pittsburgh)

Proposals are invited for papers in argumentation, rhetoric and informal logic, and the philosophy and psychology of reasoning, including practical, theoretical and historical topics.

(Graduate students working in any of these fields are also encouraged to apply; those students who may require assistance to attend should send a note now to Chris Tindale in the event that funds become available.)

Abstracts of proposed papers (200-250 words) should be sent in triplicate by September 9, 1996 to either of the conference co-organizers:

Hans V. Hansen
Liberal Studies Programme
Brock University
St. Catharines, Ontario L2S 3A1
<hhansen@spartan.ac.brocku.ca>

Christopher W. Tindale
Department of Philosophy
Trent University
Peterborough, Ontario K9J 7B8
<ctindale@trentu.ca>

New Essays in Informal Logic

Informal Logic announces an anthology of essays, edited by J. Anthony Blair and Ralph H. Johnson, titled New Essays in Informal Logic (paperback; x, 164 pages; ISBN 0-9698755-0-9). This collection of essays contains a sample of the current leading work in informal logic. Taken together, the papers constitute a wide-ranging set of essays which give a picture of the variety of issues and perspectives that exist in research into informal logic today. Rates are as follows. Canada (in CDN $): Ontario, 30.75; Ontario via IUTS, 28.75; other provinces, $29. US (in US $): 25.00; via airmail, 28.50. Elsewhere (in US $): 25.00; via airmail, 31.00. Prices include postage and handling, and all applicable taxes.