

*EditorialCONTINUING EDUCATION IN THE JOURNAL

Marietta P. Stanton,
Editorial Board Member

Dear RNO Member:

Beginning with this issue, we will provide you with an opportunity to earn continuing education credits on line. Each issue will contain a designated article for you to read. Following the article will be a set of questions and an evaluation form for the learning experience that you will also need to complete and send in with your fee. You will need to print the forms and mail them with your check or money order. Once these are received, I will send you a certificate documenting your course completion and continuing education credits. There are complete instructions in every issue to guide you on completing materials.

In upcoming issues, we will focus on educational, practice, or administrative content that specifically applies to or is of interest to rural nurses. We believe this will provide a method for you to update your knowledge on a variety of topics right from the convenience of your own home or practice setting.

In addition, I would like to work with individuals that would like to develop on line learning modules on topics that would benefit rural nurses. If you are interested in developing course materials, please contact me. These would be a welcome addition to our website and would be an excellent way to share important content.

I look forward to working with you and believe this is an exciting beginning.

Sincerely yours,

Marietta P. Stanton, PhD, RN,C, CNAA, BC, CMAC
Continuing Education Coordinator
RNO
Professor and Graduate Program Coordinator
Capstone College of Nursing
University of Alabama

mstanton@bama.ua.edu